Item 5 Information About Your Advisory Business - Employees, Clients, and Compensation

Responses to this Item help us understand your business, assist us in preparing for on-site examinations, and provide us with data we use when making regulatory policy. Part 1A Instruction 5.a. provides additional guidance to newly formed advisers for completing this Item 5.

Employees

If you are organized as a sole proprietorship, include yourself as an employee in your responses to Item 5.A. and Items 5.B.(1), (2), (3), (4), and (5). If an employee performs more than one function, you should count that employee in each of your responses to Items 5.B.(1), (2), (3), (4), and (5).

- A. Approximately how many employees do you have? Include full- and part-time employees but do not include any clerical workers.

- B. (1) Approximately how many of the employees reported in 5.A. perform investment advisory functions (including research)?
 - (2) Approximately how many of the employees reported in 5.A. are registered representatives of a broker-dealer?
 - (3) Approximately how many of the employees reported in 5.A. are registered with one or more state securities authorities as investment adviser representatives?
 - (4) Approximately how many of the employees reported in 5.A. are registered with one or more state securities authorities as investment adviser representatives for an investment adviser other than you?
 - (5) Approximately how many of the employees reported in 5.A. are licensed agents of an insurance company or agency?
 - (6) Approximately how many firms or other persons solicit advisory clients on your behalf?

In your response to Item 5.B.(6), do not count any of your employees and count a firm only once – do not count each of the firm's employees that solicit on your behalf.

Clients

In your responses to Items 5.C. and 5.D. do not include as "clients" the investors in a private fund you advise, unless you have a separate advisory relationship with those investors.

- C. (1) To approximately how many clients for whom you do not have regulatory assets under management did you provide investment advisory services during your most recently completed fiscal year?
 - (2) Approximately what percentage of your clients are non-United States persons?
- D. For purposes of this Item 5.D., the category "individuals" includes trusts, estates, and 401(k) plans and IRAs of individuals and their family members, but does not include businesses organized as sole proprietorships.

The category "business development companies" consists of companies that have made an election pursuant to section 54 of the Investment Company Act of 1940. Unless you provide advisory services pursuant to an investment advisory contract to an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, do not answer (1)(d) or (3)(d) below.

Indicate the approximate number of your clients and amount of your total regulatory assets under management (reported in Item 5.F. below) attributable to each of the following type of client. If you have fewer than 5 clients in a particular category (other than (d), (e), and (f)) you may check Item 5.D.(2) rather than respond to Item 5.D.(1).

The aggregate amount of regulatory assets under management reported in Item 5.D.(3) should equal the total amount of regulatory assets under management reported in Item 5.F.(2)(c) below.

If a client fits into more than one category, select one category that most accurately represents the client to avoid double counting clients and assets. If you advise a registered investment company, business development company, or pooled investment vehicle, report those assets in categories (d), (e), and (f) as applicable.

SECTION 5.K.(1) Separately Managed Accounts

After subtracting the amounts reported in Item 5.D.(3)(d)-(f) from your total regulatory assets under management, indicate the approximate percentage of this remaining amount attributable to each of the following categories of assets. If the remaining amount is at least $10 billion in regulatory assets under management, complete Question (a). If the remaining amount is less than $10 billion in regulatory assets under management, complete Question (b).

Any regulatory assets under management reported in Item 5.D.(3)(d), (e), and (f) should not be reported below.

If you are a subadviser to a separately managed account, you should only provide information with respect to the portion of the account that you subadvise.

End of year refers to the date used to calculate your regulatory assets under management for purposes of your annual updating amendment. Mid-year is the date six months before the end of year date. Each column should add up to 100% and numbers should be rounded to the nearest percent.

Investments in derivatives, registered investment companies, business development companies, and pooled investment vehicles should be reported in those categories. Do not report those investments based on related or underlying portfolio assets. Cash equivalents include bank deposits, certificates of deposit, bankers' acceptances and similar bank instruments.

Some assets could be classified into more than one category or require discretion about which category applies. You may use your own internal methodologies and the conventions of your service providers in determining how to categorize assets, so long as the methodologies or conventions are consistently applied and consistent with information you report internally and to current and prospective clients. However, you should not double count assets, and your responses must be consistent with any instructions or other guidance relating to this Section.

☑ No information is required to be reported in this Section 5.K.(2) per the instructions of this Section 5.K.(2)

If your regulatory assets under management attributable to separately managed accounts are at least $10 billion, you should complete Question (a). If your regulatory assets under management attributable to separately managed accounts are at least $500 million but less than $10 billion, you should complete Question (b).

(a) In the table below, provide the following information regarding the separately managed accounts you advise. If you are a subadviser to a separately managed account, you should only provide information with respect to the portion of the account that you subadvise. End of year refers to the date used to calculate your regulatory assets under management for purposes of your annual updating amendment. Mid-year is the date six months before the end of year date.

In column 1, indicate the regulatory assets under management attributable to separately managed accounts associated with each level of gross notional exposure. For purposes of this table, the gross notional exposure of an account is the percentage obtained by dividing (i) the sum of (a) the dollar amount of any borrowings and (b) the gross notional value of all derivatives, by (ii) the regulatory assets under management of the account.

In column 2, provide the dollar amount of $\emph{borrowings}$ for the accounts included in column 1.

In column 3, provide aggregate gross notional value of derivatives divided by the aggregate regulatory assets under management of the accounts included in column 1 with respect to each category of derivatives specified in 3(a) through (f).

You may, but are not required to, complete the table with respect to any separately managed account with regulatory assets under management of less than $10,000,000.

In answering this question, disregard feeder funds' investment in a master fund. For purposes of this question, in a master-feeder arrangement, one or more funds ("feeder funds") invest all or substantially all of their assets in a single fund ("master fund"). A fund would also be a "feeder fund" investing in a "master fund" for purposes of this question if it issued multiple classes (or series) of shares or interests, and each class (or series) invests substantially all of its assets in a single master fund.

Newly-formed advisers should base responses to these questions on the types of participation and interest that you expect to engage in during the next year.

Like Item 7, Item 8 requires you to provide information about you and your related persons, including foreign affiliates.

Item 11 Disclosure Information

In this Item, we ask for information about your disciplinary history and the disciplinary history of all your advisory affiliates. We use this information to determine whether to grant your application for registration, to decide whether to revoke your registration or to place limitations on your activities as an investment adviser, and to identify potential problem areas to focus on during our on-site examinations. One event may result in "yes" answers to more than one of the questions below. In accordance with General Instruction 5 to Form ADV, "you" and "your" include the filing adviser and all relying advisers under an umbrella registration.

Your advisory affiliates are: (1) all of your current employees (other than employees performing only clerical, administrative, support or similar functions); (2) all of your officers, partners, or directors (or any person performing similar functions); and (3) all persons directly or indirectly controlling you or controlled by you. If you are a "separately identifiable department or division" (SID) of a bank, see the Glossary of Terms to determine who your advisory affiliates are.

If you are registered or registering with the SEC or if you are an exempt reporting adviser, you may limit your disclosure of any event listed in Item 11 to ten years following the date of the event. If you are registered or registering with a state, you must respond to the questions as posed; you may, therefore, limit your disclosure to ten years following the date of an event only in responding to Items 11.A.(1), 11.A.(2), 11.B.(1), 11.B.(2), 11.D.(4), and 11.H.(1)(a). For purposes of calculating this ten-year period, the date of an event is the date the final order, judgment, or decree was entered, or the date any rights of appeal from preliminary orders, judgments, or decrees lapsed.

You must complete the appropriate Disclosure Reporting Page ("DRP") for "yes" answers to the questions in this Item 11.

Item 12 Small Businesses

The SEC is required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act to consider the effect of its regulations on small entities. In order to do this, we need to determine whether you meet the definition of "small business" or "small organization" under rule 0-7.

Answer this Item 12 only if you are registered or registering with the SEC and you indicated in response to Item 5.F.(2)(c) that you have regulatory assets under management of less than $25 million. You are not required to answer this Item 12 if you are filing for initial registration as a state adviser, amending a current state registration, or switching from SEC to state registration.

For purposes of this Item 12 only:

- Total Assets refers to the total assets of a firm, rather than the assets managed on behalf of clients. In determining your or another person's total assets, you may use the total assets shown on a current balance sheet (but use total assets reported on a consolidated balance sheet with subsidiaries included, if that amount is larger).
- Control means the power to direct or cause the direction of the management or policies of a person, whether through ownership of securities, by contract, or otherwise. Any person that directly or indirectly has the right to vote 25 percent or more of the voting securities, or is entitled to 25 percent or more of the profits, of another person is presumed to control the other person.

Item 4. Advisory Business

Causeway provides international, global, emerging markets, small cap, and sustainable equity investment management services primarily to institutional clients including corporations, pension plans, sovereign wealth funds, superannuation funds, public retirement plans, Taft-Hartley pension plans, endowments and foundations, mutual funds and other collective investment vehicles, charities, private trusts and funds, model and SMA programs, and other institutions. As explained in more detail in Item 8 below, Causeway uses fundamental value equity and quantitative methods to manage its investment strategies. Causeway is organized as a Delaware limited liability company and began operations in June 2001. Causeway is headquartered in Los Angeles, California, conducting its portfolio management, research, trading, operations, human resources, client service, business development, marketing production, technology, investment technology, , finance, legal, risk, fund administration, and compliance functions from that location. Causeway also has an office in Dallas, Texas, conducting portfolio management, research, human resources, technology, and investment technology functions from that location, an office in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, conducting business development functions from the location, and a representative office in Melbourne, Australia, conducting client service and business development functions from that office. Causeway is wholly-owned by its parent holding company, Causeway Capital Holdings LLC. Sarah Ketterer and Harry Hartford are the ultimate control persons of Causeway. Ms. Ketterer serves as Causeway's chief executive officer and Mr. Hartford serves as Causeway's president. Ms. Ketterer and Mr. Hartford hold their interests in the parent holding company through estate planning vehicles, through which they exercise their voting power.

Causeway's main investment strategies are:

- international value
- international value select
- global value
- emerging markets
- international opportunities and global opportunities
- international small cap
- global small cap
- concentrated
- China equity
- global sustainable leaders and global sustainable equity

In addition, Causeway manages American Depositary Receipt ("ADR"), ADR model, socially responsible, and other versions of certain of its strategies. The strategies primarily invest in international and U.S. equity securities using fundamental "value" and quantitative investment techniques, or ADRs of international securities. See Item 8 below for more information on the investment techniques used for these strategies.

Causeway manages accounts in the strategies described in Item 8 below. However, Causeway tailors investment advice to specific objectives and restrictions agreed with each client based on the client's investment objective and its financial situation. Causeway may agree with clients to impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Causeway cannot guarantee that a client's investment objectives will be achieved, and Causeway does not guarantee the future performance of any client's account or any specific level of performance, the success of any investment decision or strategy, or the success of the overall management of any account. The investment decisions Causeway makes for clients are subject to risks, and investment decisions will not always be profitable. See Item 8 below for more information about these risks, which clients should review carefully before deciding to engage Causeway.

Causeway offers investment advisory services through separately managed account single-contract and dual-contract programs ("SMA programs") and model programs ("model programs"), typically sponsored by broker-dealers or other financial institutions, through which multiple underlying customers access Causeway's advisory services. In model programs, Causeway recommends aggregate model securities weightings and related information to the program sponsor, and the sponsor or its delegate (rather than Causeway) executes transactions and provides custody services for the underlying customers. For SMA programs, Causeway supplies investment advice to SMA accounts within mandates selected by clients. For these programs, Causeway may communicate information to a third-party vendor which in turn processes the information and communicates it to program sponsors. For its services to model and single-contract SMA programs, Causeway receives a portion of the wrap fee charged by program sponsors to underlying customers of the sponsor. For dual-contract SMA programs, Causeway receives the fee set forth in the client's investment management agreement with Causeway, which are separate from fees charged by the program sponsor. The programs' underlying customers may be clients of Causeway for other purposes under the Advisers Act. Please see "Trade Allocation – Non-Execution Clients" in Item 12 below for a description of differences in the advisory services provided to model programs compared to services provided to SMA program clients.

As of December 31, 2023, Causeway managed approximately $40,571,254,812 in total assets on a discretionary basis and approximately $5,021,075,946 in total assets on a non-discretionary basis. Certain of Causeway's separate accounts invest in mutual funds sponsored by Causeway. The discretionary assets listed above include Causeway-sponsored fund assets held in separate accounts managed by Causeway ($227,899,253) and exclude Causeway's investments in private funds sponsored by Causeway ($9,362,405).

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

Causeway generally charges fees based on a percentage of assets under management. For some accounts, it charges fees based on the performance of the account. Causeway's basic annual fee schedules for its main investment strategies for separate accounts and wrap programs as of February 29, 2024 appear below. Some of Causeway's strategies are also used by mutual funds or commingled vehicles sponsored

K. International Value and Global Value – ADR model programs and SMA programs

Causeway's investment advisory services are also available through various consulting or bundled "wrap fee" programs sponsored by certain broker-dealers or other financial institutions where the sponsor offers bundled investment management, custody, brokerage or other services for a single fee. Fees charged by Causeway to the wrap program's sponsor for such services will vary based on the relationship, services provided, and other factors. The "wrap fee" paid by the client to the sponsor, which includes the fee for advisory services provided by Causeway, is generally based on a percentage of assets. For model program and single-contract SMA programs, Causeway will receive a portion of the fee charged by the program sponsor. For dual-contract SMA programs, Causeway receives the fee set forth in the client's investment management agreement with Causeway, which are separate from fees charged by the program sponsor. Clients should contact their program sponsors for more information on fees in connection with such programs.

Sponsor firms should refer to their agreements with Causeway for details on the fee schedule that applies for their relationship.

L. Miscellaneous

Fees are generally payable quarterly based on the average of the market values (as reasonably determined by Causeway) of the client's account at the end of each month during the quarter. Causeway generally bills fees quarterly in arrears, due and payable within 30 days of the client's receipt of the invoice. For any partial calendar quarter, the fee is pro rated based on the number of days that the client's assets were under management during the quarter.

Clients seeking automatic fee payment may authorize their custodians in writing to deduct and pay fees directly to Causeway from the client's account. Fee deductions, when applicable, occur automatically upon presentation of an invoice by Causeway to the custodian (with a copy to the client). However, the custodian must send appropriate account statements to the client at least quarterly indicating, among other things, management fees disbursed from the account. Investors in the Group Trust (as defined in Item 10 below) who desire automatic fee payment may authorize the trustee in writing to calculate and pay fees directly to Causeway from their accounts. Investors' monthly account statements reflect these payments.

Causeway may agree to aggregate the assets of multiple separate accounts of a client and its affiliates for fee calculation purposes.

The basic fees and minimum account sizes presented above are standard, but differences may be negotiated based on the particular circumstances of a client's account, for different substrategies, or for subadvisory accounts. For example, the standard minimum account size for Canadian clients is CAD$75 million and for Australian clients is AUD$75 million, and the standard minimum account sizes for other non-U.S. clients may differ. Methods of fee calculation and billing may also differ depending on the specific terms of the client's agreement.

Causeway may enter into performance-based fee arrangements. While the specific terms of these arrangements are negotiated with each client, they typically provide for a base fee equal to a percentage of the average market value of the account during each quarter plus a performance fee that may be (i) an additional percentage of the market value of the account if the total return of the account exceeds an agreed benchmark over an agreed period, or (ii) a percentage of account profits. See Item 6 below for more information on potential conflicts arising from performance fees.

Other investment advisers may charge lower fees for comparable services.

In addition to (and separate from) investment advisory fees paid to Causeway, clients will pay custodian fees to their custodians and transaction fees to broker-dealers and banks, including commissions, mark-ups and mark-downs, stamp and other transaction taxes, and other charges. For more information about Causeway's brokerage practices, please see Item 12 below. Further, clients will pay additional fees and expenses for any investments in mutual or commingled funds, as set forth in the applicable prospectus or offering document.

Causeway generally does not charge fees in advance, but may agree to do so. Certain model program sponsors bill their customers quarterly in advance and pay Causeway's fees monthly or quarterly in advance.

Causeway's business development employees receive salaries and some of these employees also may receive discretionary bonuses based on a percentage of Causeway's advisory fees attributable to their sales of Causeway's advisory services, whether from a separate account or fund or commingled vehicle advised by Causeway. This practice presents a conflict of interest and gives Causeway's business development employees a financial incentive to recommend investment products based on the compensation received, rather than on a client's needs. Causeway discloses this conflict to clients in this Brochure, which clients receive prior to or at the time of engaging Causeway. In addition, the standard forms of marketing materials used by Causeway's business development employees are reviewed for appropriate disclosures.

Clients have the option to purchase mutual funds advised by Causeway through other brokers or advisers that are not affiliated with Causeway.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Causeway may enter into performance-based fee arrangements. Causeway manages accounts that pay performance-based fees and accounts that pay asset-based fees. Causeway faces conflicts of interest by managing accounts that pay performance-based fees and accounts that pay asset-based fees at the same time, including that Causeway has an incentive to favor accounts for which Causeway receives performance-based fees. Depending on the circumstances, Causeway may receive compensation under a performance-based fee that is larger than it otherwise might receive under asset-based fee arrangements. Performance-based fees may also create an incentive for Causeway to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case in the absence of a performance-based fee.

Causeway has written compliance policies and procedures designed to mitigate or manage these conflicts of interest, including policies and procedures to seek fair and equitable allocation of investment opportunities (including initial public offerings ("IPOs") and new issues) and trade allocations (see Item 12 below) among all client accounts. See Item 11 below. There is no guarantee that these policies or procedures will cover every situation in which a conflict of interest arises.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Causeway provides investment management services primarily to institutional clients including corporations, pension plans, public retirement plans, sovereign wealth funds, superannuation funds, Taft-Hartley pension plans, endowments and foundations, mutual funds and other collective investment vehicles, charities, private trusts and funds, model and SMA programs, and other institutions.

Causeway has relationships with model program sponsors through which multiple underlying customers access Causeway's advisory services. Causeway treats each relationship with a model program sponsor as a single "client" for purposes of Form ADV, Part I, Item 5, because Causeway supplies aggregate securities weightings and related information to the program sponsor. The program sponsor or its delegate (and not Causeway) executes transactions and provides custody services for the underlying customers. The programs' underlying customers may be clients of Causeway for other purposes under the Advisers Act.

Causeway also provides investment advice to mutual funds it sponsors and mutual funds sponsored by third parties, collective investment trusts, or "CITs," private commingled investment vehicles, including group trusts and private funds sponsored by Causeway, and an undertaking for collective investment in transferable securities, or "UCITS," sponsored by Causeway that is an open-ended investment company with variable capital incorporated in Ireland established as an umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds.

Separate account clients must enter into a written advisory agreement with Causeway before receiving services. Please see Item 5 above for standard minimum account sizes.

Causeway may list the names of clients, private fund investors, and Group Trust investors who are not individuals in its marketing materials unless the client or investor specifically requests to be excluded.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Causeway has a number of main investment strategies and the particular methods for selecting investments vary by strategy, as described below.

Causeway's main investment strategies are:

- international value
- international value select
- global value
- emerging markets
- international opportunities and global opportunities
- international small cap
- global small cap
- concentrated
- China equity
- global sustainable leaders and global sustainable equity.

In addition, Causeway manages ADR, ADR model, socially responsible, and other versions of certain of its strategies, which are described further in Item 8.G below. Certain accounts may use a combination of two or more of the above investment strategies. Each investment strategy and its material risks are described below.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

A. International Value

The investment objective of Causeway's international value investment strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital and income through investment primarily in equity securities of companies in developed countries outside the U.S. The strategy may invest a portion of total assets in emerging markets. The benchmark index is the MSCI EAFE Index (the "EAFE Index").

When investing this strategy, Causeway follows a value style, performing fundamental research supplemented by quantitative analysis. Beginning with a universe of all publicly-listed companies throughout the non-U.S. developed and emerging markets, Causeway applies market capitalization and liquidity thresholds to reduce investment candidates to approximately 2,000 equity securities. Causeway uses quantitative valuation screens to further narrow the potential investment candidates. Causeway then performs fundamental research, which generally includes company-specific research, company visits, and interviews of suppliers, customers, competitors, industry analysts, and experts. Causeway also applies a proprietary quantitative risk model to adjust return forecasts based on risk assessments. This process results in risk-adjusted return forecasts for a closely followed group of potential investment candidates. Using a value style means that Causeway buys stocks that it believes have lower prices than their true worth. For example, stocks may be "undervalued" because the issuing companies are in industries that are currently out of favor with investors. However, even in those industries, certain companies may have high rates of growth of earnings and be financially sound. Causeway considers whether a company has each of the following value characteristics in purchasing or selling securities in this strategy:

- (i) low price-to earnings ratio relative to the sector,
- (ii) high yield relative to the market,
- (iii) low price-to-book value ratio relative to the market,
- (iv) low price-to-cash flow ratio relative to the market, and
- (v) financial strength.

Generally, price-to-earnings ratio and yield are the most important factors.

Causeway's team of "fundamental" portfolio managers manages international and global value portfolios. The portfolio managers work as a team to make investment decisions and perform investment research. They are supported by the firm's fundamental and quantitative research analysts who perform investment research, but do not make final investment decisions for international value accounts. (Certain quantitative analysts are also portfolio managers of the emerging markets, international/global opportunities, international small cap, global small cap, concentrated, and global sustainable leaders/ equity strategies described below.)

B. International Value Select

The investment objective of Causeway's international value select investment strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital and income through investment primarily in larger capitalization equity securities of companies in developed countries outside the U.S. The strategy may invest a portion of its total assets in emerging markets. For the international value select strategy, Causeway uses the same "value" investing style described above in "International Value." Investments will generally be in companies with market capitalizations greater than $5 billion at the time of investment. However, investments may be in companies with any market capitalization, including subsequent investments in companies with market capitalizations below $5 billion that were above $5 billion at the time of initial investment. The benchmark index is the EAFE Index.

C. Global Value

The investment objective of Causeway's global value investment strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital and income through investment primarily in equity securities of companies in developed countries outside the U.S. and in the U.S. and in emerging markets. For the global value strategy, although the investment universe differs, Causeway uses the same "value" investing style described above in "International Value." The benchmark index is the MSCI ACWI Index (the "ACWI Index").

D. Emerging Markets

The investment objective of Causeway's emerging markets strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital by investing primarily in equity securities of companies in emerging markets and other investments that are tied economically to emerging markets. Causeway uses a quantitative investment approach to purchase and sell investments for emerging markets portfolios. To select securities, Causeway's proprietary computer model analyzes "stock-specific" factors relating to valuation, growth, technical indicators, and competitive strength, and "top-down" factors relating to macroeconomics, currency, and country sector aggregate. Currently, the valuation factor category receives the highest overall weight in the model and stock-specific factors comprise approximately 75% of the score for a company. For each stock, the relative weight assigned to each stock-specific factor differs depending on its classification (for example, value, growth, momentum, capitalization or other classifications). The relative weights of these stock-specific factors are sometimes referred to as "contextual weights." Factors and their weightings may change over time as the model is revised and updated, or if the classification of a stock changes. In addition to its quantitative research, Causeway's fundamental research analysts review certain of the quantitative outputs to attempt to identify and address special issues, such as upcoming mergers and acquisitions or management changes, that may not be captured by the quantitative model. The strategy normally invests in companies in ten or more emerging markets and in companies with market capitalizations of generally US$500 million or greater at the time of investment. The benchmark index is the MSCI Emerging Markets Index (the "EM Index").

E. International Opportunities; Global Opportunities

The investment objective of Causeway's international opportunities strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital through investment primarily in equity securities of companies in both developed markets – excluding the U.S. - and emerging markets using Causeway's proprietary asset allocation methodology to determine developed and emerging market weightings. For the developed markets portion of the portfolio, Causeway uses its international value strategy described above in "International Value." The investment objective of Causeway's global opportunities strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital through investment primarily in equity securities of companies in both developed markets – including the U.S. – and emerging markets using Causeway's proprietary asset allocation methodology to determine developed and emerging markets weightings. For the developed markets portion of portfolios in the global opportunities strategy, Causeway uses its global value strategy described above in "Global Value." For the emerging markets portion of both the international opportunities and global opportunities portfolios, Causeway generally uses its emerging markets strategy described above in "Emerging Markets" or invests in a Causeway-sponsored investment vehicle.

Causeway uses quantitative signals from systems developed and managed by its quantitative portfolio managers and qualitative input from its fundamental portfolio managers to determine the allocation of assets between the developed and emerging markets portions of international opportunities and global opportunities portfolios. Quantitative signals are generated by a proprietary asset allocation model designed by the quantitative portfolio managers to indicate when allocations to emerging markets should increase or decrease relative to the weight of emerging markets in the benchmark of the international opportunities strategy, which is the MSCI ACWI ex USA Index, or relative to the weight of emerging markets in the benchmark of the global opportunities strategy, which is the ACWI Index. The model currently analyzes characteristics in five categories: valuation, earnings growth, financial strength, macroeconomic, and risk aversion. Causeway's fundamental portfolio managers evaluate these quantitative signals in light of fundamental analysis and the portfolio managers, as a team, determine the allocation between developed and emerging markets. The allocation is reassessed by the quantitative model daily and adjusted periodically when deemed appropriate by the investment team.

F. International Small Cap

The investment objective of Causeway's international small cap strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital through investment primarily in common stocks of companies with smaller market capitalizations in developed and emerging markets outside the U.S. Smaller market capitalization companies have market capitalizations that do not exceed the highest market capitalization of a company included in the strategy's benchmark, the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index, at the time of purchase. For the international small cap strategy, Causeway uses a quantitative investment approach to purchase and sell investments. To select securities, Causeway's proprietary computer model analyzes "stock specific" factors relating to valuation, sentiment, technical indicators, and quality, and "top-down" factors relating to macroeconomics and country. Currently, the valuation factor category receives the highest overall weight in the model and stock-specific factors comprise approximately 90% of the score for a company. For each stock, the relative weight assigned to each stock-specific factor differs depending on its classification (for example, value, momentum, capitalization or other classifications). The relative weights of these stock-specific factors are sometimes referred to as "contextual weights." Factors and their weightings may change over time as the model is revised and updated, or if the classification of a stock changes. In addition to its quantitative research, Causeway's fundamental research analysts review certain of the quantitative outputs to attempt to identify and address special issues, such as mergers and acquisitions or management changes, that may not be captured by the quantitative model.

G. Global Small Cap

The investment objective of Causeway's global small cap strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital through investment primarily in common stocks of companies with smaller market capitalizations in developed and emerging markets. Smaller market capitalization companies have market capitalizations that do not exceed the highest market capitalization of a company included in the strategy's benchmark, the MSCI ACWI Small Cap Index, at the time of purchase. For the global small cap strategy, Causeway uses a quantitative investment approach to purchase and sell investments. To select securities, Causeway's proprietary computer model analyzes "stock specific" factors relating to valuation, sentiment, technical indicators, quality, and, for U.S. stocks only, investor positioning. For non-U.S. stocks only, the model also analyzes "top-down" factors relating to macroeconomics and country. The model does not incorporate "top-down" factors for U.S. stocks. Currently, stock-specific factors comprise approximately 90% of the score for a non-U.S. company. For each stock, the relative weight assigned to each stock-specific factor differs depending on its classification (for example, value, momentum, capitalization or other classifications). The relative weights of these stock-specific factors are sometimes referred to as "contextual weights." Factors and their weightings may change over time as the model is revised and updated, or if the classification of a stock changes. In addition to its quantitative research, Causeway's fundamental research analysts review certain of the quantitative outputs to attempt to identify and address special issues, such as mergers and acquisitions or management changes, that may not be captured by the quantitative model.

H. Concentrated

The investment objective of Causeway's concentrated strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital. The strategy invests primarily in equity securities of companies in the U.S and in developed and emerging countries outside the U.S. The strategy will typically hold between 25 and 35 investments. The benchmark index is the ACWI Index.

When investing this strategy, Causeway follows a value style, performing fundamental research supplemented by quantitative analysis. Beginning with a universe of all publicly listed companies throughout the developed and emerging markets, Causeway applies market capitalization and liquidity thresholds to reduce investment candidates to approximately 4,000 equity securities. Causeway uses quantitative valuation screens to further narrow the potential investment candidates. Causeway then performs fundamental research, which generally includes company-specific research, company visits, and interviews of suppliers, customers, competitors, industry analysts, and experts. This process results in risk-adjusted return forecasts for a closely followed group of potential investment candidates. The next step is a quantitative optimization using forecast annualized returns, forecast annualized volatility risk, and other inputs to produce proposed portfolio weights for investment candidates. To select particular investments, Causeway performs further fundamental research on the optimized portfolio, which generally includes company-specific and industry-specific research to assess the suitability of individual securities for a portfolio that will typically hold between 25 and 35 investments. Causeway may apply multiple rounds of optimization and fundamental research before making investments. The "value" investing style is further described above in "International Value." The strategy's portfolio managers work as a team to make investment decisions and perform investment research.

I. China Equity

The investment objective of Causeway's China equity strategy is to seek long-term growth of capital and income. The benchmark for the strategy is the MSCI China All Shares Index in U.S. dollars, unhedged ("China Index"). The China equity strategy invests primarily in equity securities of Chinese companies and securities with exposure to Chinese companies. Generally, these investments include common stock, preferred and preference stock, depositary receipts, real estate investment trusts ("REITs"), and exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") that invest in China. The strategy investments include, but may not be limited to, China A-Shares listed and traded on the Shanghai Stock Exchange or Shenzhen Stock Exchange through the Shanghai-Hong Kong or Shenzhen – Hong Kong Stock Connect links ("Stock Connect"), China H-Shares listed and traded on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange, Chinese companies incorporated outside mainland China and listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange, and depositary receipts and other shares of Chinese companies traded in other markets.

When investing the strategy's assets, Causeway follows a value style, performing fundamental research supplemented by quantitative analysis. Beginning with a universe of Chinese companies, Causeway applies market capitalization and liquidity thresholds to reduce investment candidates to approximately 500 securities. Causeway uses fundamental research and quantitative valuation screens to further narrow the potential investment candidates. Causeway, either directly or through its wholly-owned research affiliate Causeway (Shanghai), then performs further fundamental research, which generally includes company-specific research, company visits, and interviews of suppliers, customers, competitors, industry analysts, and experts. Causeway also applies a proprietary quantitative risk model to adjust return forecasts based on risk assessments. Using a value style means that Causeway will buy stocks that it believes have lower prices than their true worth. For example, stocks may be "undervalued" because the issuing companies are in industries that are currently out of favor with investors. However, even in those industries, certain companies may have high rates of growth of earnings and be financially sound.

Causeway considers whether a company has each of the following characteristics in purchasing or selling securities for the strategy:

- Low price-to-5-year estimated earnings ratio (the stock price divided by the 5-year per share estimate) relative to the sector
- Financial strength and sufficient free cash flow to finance internal growth
- Above average corporate governance ratings.

J. Global Sustainable Leaders; Global Sustainable Equity

The investment objectives of the global sustainable leaders ("GSL") and global sustainable equity ("GSE") strategies is to seek long-term growth of capital. The benchmark for each strategy is the ACWI Index.

The GSL strategy will normally invest its assets in companies in developed markets and emerging markets with above average environmental ("E"), social ("S"), and corporate governance ("G") scores (collectively, "ESG" or sustainability scores), measured at the time of purchase, as determined by Causeway's proprietary computer model and research review. In addition to sustainability characteristics, these companies must also meet valuation criteria relative to sector peers, as determined by Causeway's proprietary computer model.

When investing the GSL strategy's assets, Causeway uses a quantitative investment approach to purchase and sell investments. As further described below, to select securities for the GSL strategy, Causeway's proprietary computer model analyzes "stock-specific" sustainability characteristics (i.e., ESG factors that Causeway believes have pecuniary implications), and "top-down" sustainability characteristics relating to country and sector. Currently, for the GSL strategy, the G factor category receives the highest overall weight in the model, followed by the E factor category, and then the S factor category. Factors and their weights may change over time as the model is revised and updated.

The GSL strategy invests in companies with above average sustainability (or ESG) scores within their sectors. To determine a company's sustainability scores for the GSL and GSE strategies, Causeway uses a proprietary methodology based on sustainability factors and weights. Causeway's sustainability scores are designed to measure a company's long-term material sustainability characteristics and overall sustainability characteristics within the company's sector and their potential to contribute to investment performance. Causeway assumes that sustainability risks and opportunities can vary by sector and company, and identifies the sustainability issues Causeway believes are the most material to investment performance. The sustainability scores draw on data sourced from commercial, governmental, and non-governmental organizations.

For the GSL strategy, Causeway assigns E, S, and G weights for a company, with E and S weights based on the materiality of those issues for the company's sector, while G weights are equal across sectors as Causeway believes G applies equally for all companies. Causeway may also use third-party screens to limit investments in certain types of companies for the GSL strategy. Separate from sustainability characteristics, these companies must also meet valuation criteria relative to sector peers, as determined by Causeway's proprietary computer model.

The GSE strategy will normally invest its assets in companies in developed markets and emerging markets and the portfolio's exposure to E, S, and G scores will be, in the aggregate across the entire portfolio, higher than the benchmark's ESG scores, measured at the time of purchase. Causeway will determine ESG or sustainability scores using its proprietary computer model and research review. Individual portfolio companies may have below average E, S, G or overall ESG or sustainability scores.

To select securities for the GSE strategy, Causeway's proprietary computer model analyzes factors relating to sustainability characteristics, valuation, sentiment, technical indicators, long-term growth, and quality. Currently, for the GSE strategy, the sustainability category receives a 20% weight in the model. The sustainability category is based on the process described above for the GSL strategy. For each stock, the weight assigned to the remaining five factors differs depending on its classification (for example, value, growth, momentum or other classifications). The relative weights of these factors are sometimes referred to as "contextual weights." Factors and their weights may change over time as the model is revised and updated, or if the classification of a stock changes.

For both the GSL and GSE strategies, in addition to its quantitative research, Causeway's fundamental research analysts review certain of the quantitative outputs to attempt to identify special issues, such as significant upcoming mergers and acquisitions or management changes, which may not be captured quantitatively. Generally, investments will include common stock, preferred and preference stock, and depositary receipts.

K. ADR, ADR Model, Socially Responsible, and Concentrated Strategies

1. ADR and ADR Models

For Causeway's international value equity and global value equity strategies, Causeway implements the strategy by purchasing sponsored and unsponsored ADRs or similar securities of international securities, or shares that trade in the U.S., rather than local securities. The strategy may be used by separate accounts, or through single-contract and dual-contract SMA programs, typically sponsored by broker-dealers or other financial institutions.

For certain clients, including certain model programs (see discussion of "non-execution" clients in Item 12 below), Causeway supplies investment recommendations in the form of model securities weightings and related information to model program sponsors who execute and settle the trades and maintain the underlying customer accounts. In addition, Causeway communicates model information to a third-party vendor which in turn processes the information and communicates it to model program sponsors. Typically, these accounts invest in international companies solely through sponsored and unsponsored ADRs or shares of non-US companies that trade in the U.S. because the program sponsors do not use foreign currencies.

The international value ADR and ADR model strategies use the same "value" investing style described above in "International Value." The global value ADR and ADR model strategies use the same "value" investing style described above in "Global Value." In these ADR and ADR model strategies, non-U.S. holdings and recommendations will generally be limited to companies with market capitalizations greater than $5 billion at the time of initial purchase or recommendation. However, investments may include companies with any market capitalization, including subsequent purchases or recommendations of companies with market capitalizations below $5 billion that were above $5 billion at the time of initial purchase or recommendation. Accounts in Causeway's international value ADR and ADR model and global value ADR and ADR model strategies will generally have fewer holdings, different weightings among holdings, and may have different holdings, than accounts in the corresponding local share strategies. This is because liquid ADRs are not available for all international securities and the ADR and ADR model strategies generally invest in non-U.S. companies with market capitalizations greater than $5 billion at the time of initial purchase or recommendation. In addition, relative to local share strategies, Causeway generally does not trade or provide recommendations for ADR and ADR model strategies unless the change is above a de minimis threshold as determined by Causeway in its sole discretion. These accounts will perform differently than accounts in local share strategies.

2. Socially Responsible

Causeway manages accounts which are restricted from investing in companies deriving revenues from one or more of the following social categories: abortion, birth control, military and controversial weapons, fossil fuels, alcohol, tobacco, pornography, gambling, for-profit prisons, or other areas of social concern. Accounts in these socially responsible strategies may have fewer and different holdings than accounts in the corresponding unrestricted strategies, and will perform differently than accounts without these restrictions.

3. Concentrated International Equity

Causeway manages accounts which limit the maximum number of portfolio holdings below Causeway's normal strategy parameters. Accounts with holdings restrictions may have higher volatility and will perform differently than accounts in corresponding strategies without such restrictions.

L. Determining Where a Company is Located

Causeway determines a company's country by referring to: its stock exchange listing; where it is registered, organized or incorporated; where its headquarters are located; its MSCI country classification; where it derives at least 50% of its revenues or profits from goods produced or sold, investments made, or services performed; or where at least 50% of its assets are located. These categories are designed to identify investments that are tied economically to, and subject to the risks of, investing outside the U.S. or a particular market, such as an emerging market. For client reporting purposes, the country where a company is located may differ from the country used for guideline compliance purposes.

Investments in exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") based on the EAFE Index or other foreign markets indices are considered foreign markets investments. Investments in ETFs based on the EM Index or other emerging markets are considered emerging markets investments. Investments in ETFs based on a single country index are considered investments in the underlying country, and investments in ETFs based on more than one underlying country index are not considered investments in the specific underlying countries. An emerging markets ETF will be considered outside the EM Index only if all of its underlying countries are not included in the EM Index. Investments in ETFs based on the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index or other small cap indices are considered smaller capitalization investments. Investments in depository receipts are typically considered investments in the country of the underlying company, as determined above.

M. Investment Risks

This section contains information about the general risks of Causeway's investment strategies. As with any investment strategy, there can be no guarantee that a strategy will meet its goals or that the strategy's performance will be positive for any period of time. The principal risks of Causeway's strategies' are listed below:

1. Market and Selection Risk

Market risk is the risk that markets will go down in value. Global economies are increasingly interconnected, and political, economic and other conditions and events (including, but not limited to, war, conflicts, natural disasters, pandemics, epidemics, inflation/deflation, and social unrest) in one country or region might adversely impact a different country or region. Furthermore, the occurrence of severe weather or geological events, fires, floods, earthquakes, climate change or other natural or manmade disasters, outbreaks of disease, epidemics and pandemics, malicious acts, cyberattacks or terrorist acts, among other events, could adversely impact the performance of client portfolios. These events may result in, among other consequences, closing borders, exchange closures, health screenings, healthcare service delays, quarantines, cancellations, supply chain disruptions, lower consumer demand, market volatility and general uncertainty. These events could adversely impact issuers, markets and economies over the short- and long-term, including in ways that cannot necessarily be foreseen. Clients could be negatively impacted if the value of a portfolio holding were harmed by political or economic conditions or events. Moreover, negative political and economic conditions and events could disrupt the processes necessary for the management of clients' portfolios.

For example, on January 31, 2020, the United Kingdom officially withdrew from the EU (such departure from the EU, ("Brexit"). On December 24, 2020, the EU and United Kingdom signed the EU-United Kingdom Trade and Cooperation Agreement (the "TCA"), which formally took effect on May 1, 2021 and now governs the relationship between the EU and the United Kingdom. Notwithstanding the TCA, certain aspects of the relationship between the United Kingdom and EU remain unresolved and subject to further negotiation and agreement. As such, there remains uncertainty as to the scope, nature, and terms of the relationship between the United Kingdom and the EU and the effect and implications of the TCA.

The actual and potential consequences of Brexit, and the associated uncertainty, have adversely affected, and for the foreseeable future may adversely affect, economic and market conditions in the United Kingdom, in the EU and its member states and elsewhere, and may also contribute to uncertainty and instability in global financial markets. This uncertainty may, at any stage, adversely affect client investments. There may be detrimental implications for the value of an account's investments and/or the ability to implement client investment programs. This may be due to, among other things: (i) increased uncertainty and volatility in United Kingdom, EU and other financial markets; (ii) fluctuations in asset values; (iii) fluctuations in exchange rates; (iv) increased illiquidity of investments located, listed or traded within the United Kingdom, the EU or elsewhere; (v) changes in the willingness or ability of financial and other counterparties to enter into transactions, or the price at which and terms on which they are prepared to transact; and/or (vi) changes in legal and regulatory regimes to which a client or certain of its assets are or become subject.

The withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the EU could have a material impact on the United Kingdom's economy and its future growth, impacting adversely an account's investments in the United Kingdom. It could also result in prolonged uncertainty regarding aspects of the United Kingdom's economy and damage customers' and investors' confidence. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on an account. Furthermore, client portfolios could be adversely affected if one or more countries leave the euro currency. War, terrorism and related responses and events could cause substantial market volatility, disrupt food operations and adversely affect client performance. For example, Russia's invasion of Ukraine in February 2022, the resulting responses by the U.S. and other countries, and the potential for wider conflict, have increased and may continue to increase volatility and uncertainty in financial markets worldwide. The U.S. and other countries have imposed broad-ranging economic sanctions on Russia and Russian entities and individuals, and may impose additional sanctions, including on other countries that provide military or economic support to Russia. These sanctions, among other things, restrict companies from doing business with Russia and Russian issuers, and may adversely affect companies with economic or financial exposure to Russia and Russian issuers. The extent and duration of Russia's military actions and the repercussions of such actions are not known. The invasion may widen beyond Ukraine and may escalate, including through retaliatory actions and cyberattacks by Russia and even other countries. These events may result in further and significant market disruptions and may adversely affect regional and global economies including those of Europe and the U.S. Certain industries and markets, such as those involving oil, natural gas and other commodities, as well as global supply chains, may be particularly adversely affected. Whether or not an account invests in securities of issuers located in Russia, Ukraine and adjacent countries or with significant exposure to issuers in these countries, these events could negatively affect the value and liquidity of an account's investments. In addition, armed conflict between Israel, Hamas, and other groups in the Middle East and related events could cause significant market disruptions and volatility. These and other significant events could negatively affect performance.

In addition, exchanges and securities markets may close early, close late or issue trading halts on specific securities, which may result in, among other things, an account being unable to buy or sell certain securities or financial instruments at an advantageous time or accurately price its portfolio investments.

Selection risk is the risk that the investments that a strategy's portfolio managers select will underperform the market or strategies managed by other investment managers with similar investment objectives and investment strategies. Causeway's use of quantitative screens and techniques may be adversely affected if it relies on erroneous or outdated data.

2. Management Risk

Causeway's opinion about the intrinsic worth of a company or security may be incorrect; Causeway may not make timely purchases or sales of securities or changes in exposures for clients; a client's investment objective may not be achieved; or the market may continue to undervalue securities holdings or exposures, or overvalue short exposures. In addition, Causeway may not be able to dispose of certain securities holdings or exposures in a timely manner. Certain securities or other instruments in which an account seeks to invest may not be available in the quantities desired. In addition, regulatory restrictions, policies, and procedures to manage actual or potential conflicts of interest, or other considerations may cause Causeway to restrict or prohibit participation in certain investments.

3. Issuer-Specific Risk

The value of an individual security or particular type of security can be more volatile than the market as a whole and can perform differently from the value of the market as a whole due to, for example: a reason directly related to the issuer; management performance; financial leverage; reduced demand for the issuer's goods or services; the historical and prospective earnings of the issuer; or the value of the issuer's assets. In particular, concentrated strategies may hold a smaller number of holdings, subjecting accounts using these strategies to increased issuer risk, including the risk that the value of a security may decline.

4. Value Stock Risk

Value stocks are subject to the risks that their intrinsic value may never be realized by the market and that their prices may go down. Causeway's value discipline sometimes prevents or limits investments in stocks that are in a strategy's benchmark index.

5. Dividend-Paying Stock Risk

Dividend-paying stocks may underperform non-dividend paying stocks (and the stock market as a whole) over any period of time. The prices of dividend-paying stocks may decline as interest rates increase. In addition, issuers of dividend-paying stocks typically have discretion to defer or stop paying dividends. If the dividend-paying stocks held by an account reduce or stop paying dividends, the account's ability to generate income may be adversely affected.

6. Quantitative Analysis Risk

Data for emerging markets companies may be less available and/or less current than data for developed markets companies. Causeway will use quantitative techniques to generate investment decisions and its analysis and stock selection can be adversely affected if it relies on erroneous or outdated data. Any errors in Causeway's quantitative methods may adversely affect performance. In addition, securities selected using quantitative analysis can perform differently from the market as a whole as a result of the factors used in the analysis, the weight assigned to a stock-specific factor for a stock or the weight placed on each factor, and changes in a factor's historical trends. The factors used in quantitative analysis and the weights assigned to a stock-specific factor for a stock or the weight placed on each factor may not predict a security's value, and the effectiveness of the factors can change over time. These changes may not be reflected in the current quantitative model.

7. Foreign and Emerging Markets Risk

Foreign security investment involves special risks not present in U.S. investments that can increase the chances that an account will lose money. For example, the value of an account's securities may be affected by social, political and economic developments and U.S. and foreign laws relating to foreign investment. Further, because accounts invest in securities denominated in foreign currencies, accounts' securities may go down in value depending on foreign exchange rates. Other risks include trading, settlement, custodial, and other operational risks; withholding or other taxes; and the less stringent investor protection and disclosure standards of some foreign markets. All of these factors can make foreign securities less liquid, more volatile, and harder to value than U.S. securities. These risks are higher for emerging markets and frontier market investments, which can be subject to greater social, economic, regulatory and political uncertainties. These risks are also higher for investments in smaller and medium capitalization companies. These risks, and other risks of investing in foreign securities, are explained further below.

- The economies of some foreign markets often do not compare favorably with that of the U.S. with respect to such issues as growth of gross domestic product, reinvestment of capital, resources, and balance of payments positions. Certain foreign economies may rely heavily on particular industries or foreign capital. For example, weakening of global demand for oil may negatively affect the economies of countries that rely on the energy industry. They may be more vulnerable to adverse diplomatic developments, the imposition of economic sanctions against a country, changes in international trading patterns, trade barriers and other protectionist or retaliatory measures.
- Governmental actions such as the imposition of capital controls, nationalization of companies or industries, expropriation of assets or the imposition of punitive taxes – may adversely affect investments in foreign markets.
- The governments of certain countries may prohibit or substantially restrict foreign investing in their capital markets or in certain industries, or may restrict the sale of certain holdings once purchased. In addition, the U.S. government may restrict U.S. investors, including Causeway and its clients, from investing in certain foreign issuers. Any of these restrictions could severely affect security prices; impair an account's ability to purchase or sell foreign securities or transfer its assets or income back to the U.S.; result in forced selling of securities or an inability to participate in an investment Causeway otherwise believes is attractive; or otherwise adversely affect an account's operations.

- Other foreign market risks include foreign exchange controls, difficulties in pricing securities, defaults on foreign government securities, difficulties in enforcing favorable legal judgments in foreign courts, and political and social instability. Legal remedies available to investors in certain foreign countries are less extensive than those available to investors in the U.S. or other foreign countries Many foreign governments supervise and regulate stock exchanges, brokers and the sale of securities less than the U.S. government does. Foreign corporate governance may not be as robust as in more developed countries. As a result, protections for minority investors may not be strong, which could affect security prices.
- Accounting standards in other countries are not necessarily the same as in the U.S.
 If the accounting standards in another country do not require as much disclosure or detail as U.S. accounting standards, it may be harder for the portfolio managers to completely and accurately determine a company's financial condition or find reliable and current data to process using quantitative techniques. U.S. regulators may be unable to enforce a company's regulatory obligations.
- Because there are usually fewer investors on foreign exchanges and smaller numbers of shares traded each day, it may be difficult for an account to buy and sell securities on those exchanges. In addition, prices of foreign securities may fluctuate more than prices of securities traded in the U.S.
- Foreign markets may have different clearance and settlement procedures. In certain markets, settlements may not keep pace with the volume of securities transactions.
 If this occurs, settlement may be delayed and the assets in a client's account may be uninvested and may not be earning returns. An account also may miss investment opportunities or not be able to sell an investment because of these delays.
- If permitted by a client, Causeway may (but is not obligated to) cause an account to enter into forward currency contracts or swaps to purchase and sell securities for the purpose of increasing or decreasing exposure to foreign currency fluctuations from one country to another, or from or to the Eurozone region, in the case of the Euro. There can be no assurance that such instruments will be effective as hedges against currency fluctuations or as speculative investments. Moreover, these currency contracts or swaps are derivatives (see "Derivatives Risk" below).
- Changes in foreign currency exchange rates will affect the value of an account's foreign holdings. Further, companies in foreign countries may conduct business or issue debt denominated in currencies other than their domestic currencies, creating additional risk if there is any disruption, abrupt change in the currency markets, or illiquidity in the trading of such currencies.

- The costs of foreign securities transactions tend to be higher than those of U.S. transactions.
- International trade barriers or economic sanctions against foreign countries may adversely affect an account's foreign holdings.

The performance of some of Causeway's strategies, in particular the emerging markets and China equity strategies, may be affected by the social, political, and economic conditions within China. After decades of unprecedented growth, China currently faces several headwinds, including a slowing economy, high municipal debt, slowing manufacturing and exports, high youth unemployment, a housing market downturn and deflation. China's securities markets have less regulation and are substantially smaller, less liquid and more volatile than the securities markets of more developed countries, and hence are more susceptible to manipulation, insider trading, and other market abuses. As with all transition countries, China's ability to develop and sustain a credible legal, regulatory, monetary and socioeconomic system could influence the course of outside investment. China has yet to develop comprehensive securities, corporate, or commercial laws; its market is relatively new and undeveloped; and the rate of growth of its economy is slowing. Government policies have recently contributed to economic growth and prosperity in China, but such policies could be altered or discontinued at any time, and without notice. Changes in government policy and slower economic growth may restrict or adversely affect an account's investments. There is no guarantee that the Chinese government will take action to support real estate or financial markets, or that any action taken by the government would be effective. Such events, including government intervention, could have a significant adverse impact on the Chinese, regional and global markets and on an account's holdings. In addition, certain accounts may obtain exposure to the China A-Share market through participation notes, warrants or similar equity-linked notes, which are derivative instruments that can be volatile and involve special risks including counterparty risk, liquidity risk, and basis risk. These instruments may be based on an index or exposures selected by Causeway. Alternatively, certain accounts may directly invest in China A-Shares listed and traded on the Shanghai Stock Exchange or Shenzhen Stock Exchange through the Shanghai-Hong Kong or Shenzhen – Hong Kong Stock Connect links ("Stock Connect"). Trading through Stock Connect is subject to a number of risks including, among others, trading, clearance and settlement risks, currency exchange risks, political and economic instability, inflation, confiscatory taxation, nationalization, expropriation, Chinese securities market volatility, less reliable financial information, differences in accounting, auditing, and financial standards and requirements from those applicable to U.S. issuers, and uncertainty of implementation of existing law in the People's Republic of China. Further developments are likely and there can be no assurance of Stock Connect's continued existence or whether future developments regarding the program may restrict or adversely affect an account's investments or returns. In addition, securities of certain Chinese issuers are, or may in the future become, restricted, and a client account may be forced to sell these restricted securities and incur a loss as a result.

Certain accounts may gain exposure to certain operating companies in China through legal structures known as variable interest entities ("VIEs"). In China, ownership of companies in certain sectors by non-Chinese individuals and entities (including U.S. persons and entities) is prohibited. To facilitate indirect non-Chinese investment, many China-based operating companies have created VIE structures. In a VIE structure, a China-based operating company establishes an entity outside of China that enters into service and other contracts with the China-based operating company. Shares of the entities established outside of China are often listed and traded on an exchange. Non-Chinese investors hold equity interests in the entities established outside of China rather than directly in the China-based operating companies. This arrangement allows U.S. investors to obtain economic exposure to the China-based operating company through contractual means rather than through formal equity ownership. An investment in a VIE structure subjects certain accounts to the risks associated with the underlying China-based operating company. In addition, certain accounts may be exposed to certain associated risks, including the risks that: the Chinese government could subject the China-based operating company to penalties, revocation of business and operating licenses or forfeiture of ownership interests; the Chinese government may outlaw the VIE structure, which could cause an uncertain negative impact to existing investors in the VIE structure; if the contracts underlying the VIE structure are not honored by the China-based operating company or if there is otherwise a dispute, the contracts may not be enforced by Chinese courts; and shareholders of the China-based operating company may leverage the VIE structure to their benefit and to the detriment of the investors in the VIE structure. If any of these actions were to occur, the market value of investments in VIEs would likely fall, causing investment losses, which could be substantial.

On March 31, 2023, the "Trial Administrative Measures of Overseas Securities Offering and Listing by Domestic Companies" (the "Trial Measures") by the CSRC came into effect. The Trial Measures requires Chinese companies that pursue listings outside of China, including those that do so using the VIE structure, to make a filing with the CSRC. Although the Trial Measures acknowledge the VIE structure, they are not an endorsement, nor is there a guarantee the CSRC will not set out more stringent requirements that interfere with the operation of VIE structures by listed Chinese companies.

The PCAOB historical has been restricted from inspecting the audit work and practices of registered accountants in the PRC. On August 26, 2022, the PCAOB entered into an agreement with the China Securities Regulatory Commission and the Ministry of Finance of the PRC that permits the PCAOB to inspect registered accountants headquartered in mainland China and Hong Kong. There remains uncertainty as to whether the PRC will allow the PCAOB unrestricted access to the audit papers of PRC issuers. As a result, there continues to be the risk that audits performed by registered accountants in mainland China and Hong Kong may continue to be less reliable than those performed by other firms subject to PCAOB inspection, and that material accounting and financial information about PRC issuers may be unavailable or unreliable.

8. Small and Medium Capitalization Companies Risk

Some of Causeway's strategies, and in particular the international small cap, global small cap, and emerging markets strategies, may invest in smaller and medium capitalization issuers. The values of securities of smaller and medium capitalization companies, which may be less well-known companies, can be more sensitive to, and react differently to, company, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of securities. Smaller and medium capitalization companies can have more limited product lines, markets, growth prospects, depth of management, and financial resources, and these companies may have shorter operating histories and less access to financing, creating additional risk. Smaller and medium capitalization companies in countries with less-liquid currencies may have difficulties in financing and conducting their business. Further, smaller and medium capitalization companies may be particularly affected by interest rate increases, as they may find it more difficult to borrow money to continue or expand operations, or may have difficulty in repaying any loans that have floating rates. Because of these and other risks, securities of smaller and medium capitalization companies tend to be more volatile and less liquid than securities of larger capitalization companies. During some periods, securities of smaller and medium capitalization companies, as asset classes, have underperformed the securities of larger capitalization companies.

9. Derivatives Risk

If an account invests in derivatives for hedging, the investments may not be effective as a hedge against price movements and can limit potential for growth in the value of the account. An account's use of futures contracts subjects the account to additional risks. Futures contracts are derivative instruments which can be volatile and involve special risks including leverage risk and basis risk (the risk that the value of the investment will not react in parallel with the value of the reference index), in addition to market risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, operational risk and legal risk. Participation notes, warrants or similar equity-linked notes, which may be based on either an index or exposures selected by Causeway, may be used to obtain exposure to the China A-Share market, are also derivative instruments which can be volatile and involve special risks including counterparty risk, liquidity risk, and basis risk. These risks are in addition to the risks associated with the investments underlying such derivative instruments.

Derivatives are volatile and involve significant risks, including but not limited to:

- Counterparty Risk Counterparty risk is the risk that the counterparty on a derivative transaction will be unable to honor its financial obligation to the account and the related risk of having concentrated exposure to such counterparty.
- Currency Risk Currency risk is the risk that changes in the exchange rate between two currencies will adversely affect the value (in U.S. dollar terms) of an investment.
- Leverage Risk Leverage risk is the risk that relatively small market movements may result in large changes in the value of an investment. Investments that involve leverage can result in losses that greatly exceed the amount originally invested.
- Market Risk Market risk is the risk from potential adverse market movements in relation to an account's derivatives positions, or the risk that markets could experience a change in volatility that adversely impacts an account's derivatives positions.
- Liquidity Risk Liquidity risk is the risk that certain securities may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time that the seller would like or at the price that the seller believes the security is currently worth, and the related risk involving the liquidity demands that derivatives can create to margin or settlement payments.
- Basis Risk Basis risk is the risk that the value of a derivative instrument does not react in parallel with the value of the underlying security.
- Operational Risk Operational risk is the risk related to potential operational issues related to an account's derivatives positions.
- Legal Risk Legal risk is the risk created by insufficient documentation, insufficient capacity or authority of a counterparty, or potential issues relating to the legality or enforceability of a contract.

10. Cybersecurity Risk

The use of technology is prevalent in the course of business and, as a result, Causeway, it's service providers and the companies it invests in for clients have become potentially more susceptible to operational and information security risks resulting from breaches in cyber security. A breach in cyber security could result from intentional or unintentional cyber events from outside threat actors or internal resources that may, among other matters, cause the loss of proprietary information, suffer data corruption and/or destruction or lose operational capacity, result in the unauthorized release or other misuse of confidential information, or otherwise disrupt normal business operations. Cyber security breaches may involve unauthorized access to digital information systems (e.g., through "hacking," malicious software coding, etc.), from multiple sources including outside attacks such as denial-of-service attacks (i.e., efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users), or cyber extortion including exfiltration of data held for ransom and/or "ransomware" attacks that renders systems inoperable until ransom is paid or insider actions. In addition, cyber security breaches involving third party service providers (including but not limited to administrators, transfer agents, custodians, vendors, suppliers, distributors and other third parties), trading counterparties or issuers in which an account invests can also subject an account to many of the same risks associated with direct cyber security breaches or extortion of company data. Moreover, cyber security breaches involving trading counterparties or issuers in which an account invests could adversely impact these counterparties or issuers and cause the account's investment to lose value.

Cyber security failures or breaches may result in financial losses. These failures or breaches may also result in disruptions to business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses; impediments to trading; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; regulatory fines; penalties; third party claims in litigation; reputational damage; reimbursement or other compensation costs; additional compliance and cyber security risk management costs and other adverse consequences. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred in order to seek to prevent cyber security incidents in the future.

Like with operational risk in general, Causeway has established business continuity plans and other systems designed to reduce the risks associated with cyber security. However, there are inherent limitations in these plans and systems, including that certain risks may not have been identified, in large part because different or unknown threats may be unknown or emerge in the future. As such, there is no guarantee that these efforts will succeed, especially because Causeway does not directly control the cyber security systems of issuers in which an account may invest, trading counterparties or third party service providers to Causeway. These entities may have experienced cyber security attacks and other attempts to gain unauthorized access to systems from time to time, and there is no guarantee that efforts to prevent or mitigate the effects of these attacks will be successful. There is also a risk that cyber security breaches may not be detected, or may not be detected for a meaningful period of time.

11. Sustainability Issues

As part of Causeway's investment process when evaluating investments and potential investments, it considers material sustainability factors (i.e., environmental, social and corporate governance issues that have pecuniary implications), where applicable, as an input into investment analysis. Other than the Global Sustainable Leaders strategy, Causeway does not use sustainability factors as the sole criteria to include or exclude companies or sectors from its investable universe. Rather, Causeway seeks to identify and quantify through research those sustainability factors it believes are material, and to integrate those factors into its investment process. For fundamental strategies, these strategies employ a bottom-up stock selection process whereby Causeway assesses a mosaic of fundamental company and industry information to form a holistic view of an investment. Material sustainability issues that Causeway believes are likely to impact investment performance are, where applicable, an input in forming this view. The emphasis on sustainability factors depends on the importance of these factors to the relevant sector and unique circumstances of a company. For the Global Sustainable Leaders and Equity strategies, Causeway uses sustainability factors as described above. For other quantitative strategies, Causeway uses a proprietary corporate governance assessment score that ranks companies in the developed and emerging markets based on a number of bottom-up and top-down corporate governance measures. The ranking is used as a negative screening indicator and highlights stocks that should be considered for omission from the investable universe or trimming or sale from the portfolio. In addition, Causeway uses a governance factor as a top-down alpha indicator for the international small cap and global small cap strategies. There are not universally agreed upon objective standards for assessing sustainability issues for companies, and Causeway's criteria and process for assessing sustainability issues may differ from a client's or other person's understanding of which sustainability criteria should be used or how sustainability issues should be analyzed. Sustainability issues tend to have many subjective characteristics, can be difficult to analyze, and frequently involve a balancing of a company's business plans, objectives, actual conduct and other factors. In addition, sustainability issues can vary over different periods and can evolve over time. They may also be difficult to apply consistently across regions, countries, industries or sectors. Moreover, there is not universal acceptance of sustainability analysis within the investment community. In addition, in evaluating an investment, Causeway is dependent upon information and data obtained through third-party sources that may be incomplete, inaccurate or unavailable, which could adversely affect the analysis of the sustainability issues relevant to a particular investment.

12. Miscellaneous

Client accounts are normally denominated in U.S. dollars and are not hedged to the U.S. dollar. If not restricted by client investment guidelines, Causeway may, in its discretion, hedge any portion or all of a position in a non-U.S. currency as a defensive mechanism to seek to protect the value of an account in U.S. dollars. There can be no assurance that a hedging position, if used, will be effective.

Causeway measures client investment restrictions at the time of purchase (rather than at market) unless agreed differently with the client.

Causeway manages mutual funds and other commingled funds in the above-described investment strategies and the terms of the summary prospectus, prospectus, statement of additional information, offering memoranda and governing documents of such funds prevail over any conflicting terms in this Brochure. In addition, Causeway tailors investment advice to specific objectives and restrictions agreed with each client and the terms of the investment management agreement with each client prevail over any conflicting terms in this Brochure.

Causeway is a signatory to the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment ("UN PRI"), a voluntary framework for incorporating sustainability issues into investment decision-making and ownership practices. For a full copy of Causeway's Sustainability Policy, please contact Causeway at 310-231-6100 or visit our website at www.causewaycap.com.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of Causeway's advisory business or the integrity of Causeway's management.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Causeway is the investment adviser and sponsor of the pooled investment vehicles listed below.

Investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"):

Causeway Capital Management Trust, and its series (collectively, the "Funds"):

- Causeway International Value Fund
- Causeway Global Value Fund
- Causeway Emerging Markets Fund
- Causeway International Opportunities Fund
- Causeway International Small Cap Fund

Causeway manages a group trust organized in Massachusetts for the collective investment of assets of pension and profit-sharing trusts and governmental plans (the "Group Trust"), which follows one of Causeway's main strategies noted in Item 8. Causeway serves as subadviser for other investment companies registered under the 1940 Act. Causeway also sponsors, and has been delegated investment advisory duties for, a UCITS fund that is an open-ended investment company with variable capital incorporated in Ireland established as an umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds (the "Causeway UCITS"). Causeway sponsors Causeway Multi-Fund LLC, a series limited liability company formed under the Delaware Limited Liability

Company Act. Causeway Multi-Fund LLC is comprised of different series, including the International Value Institutional Series, International Value Institutional Series B, International Value Institutional Series C, Emerging Markets Series A, China Equity Series A, Global Sustainable Leaders Series A, Global Sustainable Equity Series A, Concentrated Equity Series A, and Global Small Cap Equity Series A (collectively, "Causeway Multi-Funds"). Causeway sponsors and subadvises Causeway International Value Equity CIT and Causeway Emerging Markets Equity CIT, separate collective investment funds established under Causeway Collective Investment Trust, which is organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (the "Causeway CITs"). Causeway may also sponsor and manage other pooled investment vehicles from time to time. The Funds, Group Trust, Causeway UCITS, Causeway Multi-Funds, and Causeway CITs are collectively referred to as "Sponsored Funds."

Certain employees of Causeway are registered representatives of Foreside Fund Services, LLC ("Foreside"), a registered broker-dealer. Causeway and its business development employees solicit persons to invest in the Sponsored Funds. Causeway has financial interests from its relationships with the Sponsored Funds because it earns management fees from the Sponsored Funds. Certain Causeway business development employees have financial interests related to the Sponsored Funds because they may earn discretionary bonuses based in part on management fees earned by Causeway from the Sponsored Funds. See Item 5 above. Causeway has invested seed capital in the Funds and Causeway Multi-Funds, and Causeway's portfolio managers, and certain other employees, owners and/or affiliates invest in one or more of the Funds and/or similarly-managed Causeway CITs. The prospectuses or other offering materials that are delivered to investors for the Sponsored Funds disclose the management fees paid to Causeway. Causeway has an incentive to refer investors to the Sponsored Funds. To the extent a client's separate account invests in a Sponsored Fund, the client will not be double-charged for investment advisory fees on account assets invested in the Sponsored Fund.

Causeway has formed a wholly foreign-owned enterprise, Causeway Shanghai, which is incorporated under the laws of the People's Republic of China. Causeway Shanghai provides research consulting services to Causeway pursuant to an agreement between Causeway and Causeway Shanghai. Causeway Shanghai is not registered as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act, but is a Participating Affiliate of Causeway pursuant to a Memorandum of Understanding between Causeway and Causeway (Shanghai) (the "MOU") consistent with relevant SEC staff guidance. Under the MOU, Causeway (Shanghai) personnel are associated persons of Causeway, and Causeway supervises these associated persons with respect to services provided to or for Causeway's clients. Causeway Shanghai employees are subject to Causeway's Code of Ethics, as described in Item 11 below.

See Item 11 for a discussion of potential conflicts of interest arising from the activities and affiliations described above.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Causeway has adopted a Code of Ethics in compliance with Rule 17j-1 under the 1940 Act and Rule 204A-1 under the Advisers Act. The Code of Ethics, among other things, restricts the personal investing activities of employees of Causeway who have access to investment recommendations made to clients ("Access Persons"). All employees are currently deemed Access Persons. The Code of Ethics imposes additional stricter restrictions on employees who render investment advice ("Investment Personnel"). Among other things, the Code:

- requires preclearance of trades, except for mutual funds and other exempt securities,
- prohibits new purchases of stocks held in client accounts,
- imposes a seven day blackout for Access Persons on securities being transacted for client accounts, with limited exceptions subject to Compliance department clearance,
- imposes a 60-day short-term trading profit prohibition for Investment Personnel,
- prohibits market timing in the Funds or any other funds subadvised by Causeway,
- imposes a 60-day short-term trading profit prohibition for Access Persons investing in the Funds and any funds subadvised by Causeway, and
- requires duplicate broker statements to be provided to Causeway's Compliance department.

Causeway will provide a copy of its Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

In addition, all employees are prohibited from trading in a security while in possession of material nonpublic information and from engaging in transactions intended to manipulate the market. (In the course of providing investment advisory services, Causeway may come into possession of material nonpublic information which may affect Causeway's ability to buy, sell or hold a security for a client account and Causeway is not able to advise clients of such situations.) Access Persons are not permitted to solicit gifts or gratuities or accept gifts from clients, brokers or vendors that are extraordinary or extravagant; however, customary business meals and entertainment are permitted. The receipt of gifts and business entertainment from brokers requires reporting, and Causeway may pay or reimburse all or a portion of the estimated cost of the gift, meal or entertainment. Giving extraordinary or extravagant gifts is not permissible. The giving of gifts, meals, or anything of value above a de minimis threshold to foreign government officials is prohibited without the prior approval of the Compliance department. There is no guarantee that any such policies or procedures will cover every situation in which a conflict of interest arises.

All portfolio managers, certain research analysts, the chief operating officer, the general counsel/chief compliance officer, and other employees of Causeway, directly or through estate planning vehicles, own equity interests in Causeway's parent holding company, and each of Ms. Ketterer and Mr. Hartford is a control person of Causeway. Causeway buys and sells securities for the Sponsored Funds that it also recommends to other clients. Causeway has invested seed capital in the Funds and Causeway Multi-Funds, and Causeway has borrowed money for seed capital investments. Causeway's portfolio managers, and certain other employees, owners and/or affiliates invest in one or more of the Funds and/or similarly-managed Causeway CITs. Thus, portfolio managers may have an incentive to favor some Funds and accounts over other accounts they manage. They may also have an incentive to favor accounts based on the fees paid by the accounts. Causeway has written policies and procedures to seek fair and equitable allocations of investment opportunities and trades among accounts, which are designed to manage potential conflicts between and among the management of multiple accounts. In addition, Causeway generally manages accounts in the same strategy in the same manner, subject to any restrictions imposed by clients, and monitors for material differences in performance between similar accounts to manage these potential conflicts.

Causeway's employees from time to time and in accordance with the Code of Ethics purchase and sell securities for their personal accounts that Causeway has also recommended to clients. Causeway manages potential conflicts arising from the personal trading activities of employees by requiring the preclearance of trades under its Code of Ethics, among other restrictions, as described above.

Causeway invests client assets in securities of companies which may be clients of the firm, broker-dealers or banks used by Causeway to effect transactions for client accounts, or vendors who provide products or services to Causeway. Causeway executes transactions for clients through broker-dealers who are clients of Causeway, who may provide consulting, advisory or other services to clients of Causeway, or who may refer clients to Causeway or investors to funds managed by Causeway. Causeway votes proxies of companies who are also investment advisory clients of the firm. Causeway may have an incentive to favor the interests of these broker-dealers, banks, or companies due to their relationships with the firm. However, Causeway's research review and broker-dealer selection processes do not take these relationships into consideration when evaluating companies for investment or broker-dealers and banks for executing transactions.

From time to time, Causeway purchases data, research, and other services or products from, and pays to attend conferences sponsored by, institutional asset management consultants. These consultants conduct searches and recommend money managers potentially including Causeway to their clients.

Causeway from time to time sponsors conferences for clients, prospective clients, and institutional asset management consultants and financial professionals. Causeway does not charge attendance fees, but provides meals, refreshments and entertainment, and may pay attendees' lodging expenses for these conferences. Certain attendees may recommend money managers potentially including Causeway to their clients.

In managing accounts in similar investment strategies, Causeway purchases and sells securities for some accounts that it may also recommend to other accounts. Causeway may at times give advice or take action with respect to certain accounts that differs from the advice given other accounts with similar investment strategies.

In managing accounts in different investment strategies, Causeway may purchase or sell the same securities for different strategies or may sell securities in one strategy while buying the same securities for accounts in a different strategy. Causeway may, but is not obligated to, cross trades between these accounts. See Item 12 below.

Some accounts pay higher management fee rates than other accounts in similar or different investment strategies. Some accounts pay performance-based fees to Causeway. The payment of different fees, including performance-based fees, may provide an incentive to Causeway to favor one account over another. Causeway manages these potential conflicts as described in Item 6 above.

Actual or potential conflicts of interest, as noted above, may arise from Causeway's management responsibilities with respect to multiple accounts in similar and different investment strategies for different fee rates as described above and from portfolio managers and employees trading their personal accounts. These responsibilities may, among other things, provide incentives to portfolio managers to devote unequal time and attention across client accounts, and the differing fees, incentives and relationships with the various accounts may provide an incentive to favor certain accounts. Causeway has written compliance policies and procedures designed to mitigate or manage these conflicts of interest, including policies and procedures to seek fair and equitable allocation of investment opportunities (including IPOs and new issues) and trades among all client accounts.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Except for "non-execution clients" (see below), Causeway generally has full authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the particular securities and amount of securities to buy or sell, the particular broker or dealer to use, and the commission rates to pay on behalf of the client. Causeway may agree with a client to limit the foregoing authority.

Where Causeway has full discretionary authority to determine the broker or dealer to use and the commission rate to pay on behalf of a client, Causeway will seek to obtain the best available price in the best available market so that a client's total costs, or proceeds, are the most favorable under the circumstances, taking into account all relevant factors. In placing brokerage, Causeway considers the size and nature of an order, the difficulty of execution and the full range and quality of a broker-dealer's services, including among other things:

- execution capability
- brokerage and research services
- responsiveness
- level of commission rates charged
- financial soundness
- back office processing capabilities
- participation in client commission recapture programs.

For foreign exchange and other principal trades executed by Causeway, Causeway considers the bid and/or offer price and also considers the factors described above, excluding brokerage and research services, commission rates, and client commission recapture programs, which factors are not applicable to principal trades.

In accordance with Rule 12b-1(h) under the 1940 Act, Causeway does not direct commissions or other compensation to broker-dealers in consideration for the promotion or sale of the shares of the Funds or any other mutual fund. Causeway does not, when selecting broker-dealers for a trade, consider whether the broker-dealer refers clients to Causeway or investors to funds managed by Causeway. Traders do not receive information concerning fund sales by particular broker-dealers, including the Funds.

Causeway does not adhere to any rigid formulas in selecting broker-dealers, but weighs a combination of some or all of the factors noted above. The determinative factor is not the lowest possible commission cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution for client accounts. Relevant factors will vary for each transaction, and Causeway will not always select the broker charging the lowest commission rate.

In foreign markets, including those where Causeway regularly purchases and sells securities for clients, commissions and other transaction costs are often higher than those charged in the United States. In addition, Causeway may not have the ability to negotiate commissions in some markets.

For equity agency trades, Causeway may consider proprietary or third party brokerage and research services provided by broker-dealers as a factor in their selection in accordance with Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, including under commission sharing arrangements. Causeway may effect securities transactions that cause a client to pay an amount of commission in excess of the amount of commission another broker-dealer would have charged if Causeway determines in good faith that the amount of commission is reasonable in relation to the value of brokerage and research services provided by the broker-dealer used by Causeway, viewed in terms of either the specific transaction or Causeway's overall responsibilities to the accounts for which it exercises investment discretion.

When Causeway uses client brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services, Causeway receives a benefit because Causeway does not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services. This reduces Causeway's costs.

Causeway may have an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on Causeway's interest in receiving research or other products or services, rather than on Causeway's clients' interest in receiving most favorable execution.

To the extent that research services may be a factor in selecting broker-dealers, these services may be in written form or through direct contact with individuals. Eligible research may include information about securities, companies, industries, markets, economics, the valuation of investments and portfolio strategy. Causeway may receive research in the form of research reports, computer and technical market analyses, and access to research analysts, corporate management personnel, and industry experts. The primary brokerage and research services Causeway acquired through client brokerage commissions for the last fiscal year were meetings and conference telephone calls with company managements and industry analysts and experts. Causeway uses these services to supplement its own research in its investment decision-making process.

Brokerage and research services furnished by broker-dealers may be used in servicing all accounts and not all these services may be used in connection with the account that paid the commissions generating the services. As a result of receiving research, Causeway has an incentive to continue using the broker-dealers to provide services to Causeway.

Traders assess broker-dealers based on best price and overall execution. Causeway believes that each trade represents a balance between (a) the market impact of execution and (b) the opportunity cost of time and share price movement of not completing the trade. Causeway's prior experience with specific broker-dealers and markets helps it make trade placement decisions.

Traders monitor prices of full service equity trades by comparing completed trades generally to the stock's volume-weighted average price ("VWAP") for the trading day. Portfolio managers and research analysts assess brokers based on research services and communicate assessments to the trading desk. Portfolio managers and traders receive weekly and annual reports listing brokers and commissions, monitor the amount of commissions allocated among broker-dealers and seek to allocate transactions to broker-dealers who provide superior execution and research services. To assess the quality of brokers' research services, Causeway's investment team rates brokers based on the quality of meetings (in person, virtual, and telephonic meetings or conferences) arranged by brokers with analysts, company managements, and industry experts, and written research and/or analyst interactions deemed exceptional. Meetings, written research and analyst interactions are graded for quality on a sliding scale. These scores are weighted, with more weight given to company meetings than to analyst meetings, written research and analyst interactions. Based on the ratings, percentage commission targets are generated. The research analyst team updates the commission target spreadsheet quarterly. The targets are for internal use only, and do not obligate Causeway to place trades with any particular broker. In addition, Causeway uses a third party service to assist the firm in assessing best execution. These assessments are distributed quarterly to relevant portfolio managers, traders, and Compliance staff and reviewed semi-annually at meetings of the firm's Best Execution Group.

Pursuant to SEC interpretative guidance, Causeway uses commission sharing arrangements ("CSAs") with certain broker-dealers. These CSA broker-dealers execute trades and credit soft dollars to pools from which Causeway directs payments to the CSA broker-dealers, third-party broker-dealers, and independent research providers based on commission targets. The use of CSAs is intended to assist Causeway in providing credits to broker-dealers and to independent research providers who, in its judgment, provide the best access to analysts and/or management, while using reliable executing broker-dealers which Causeway believes will benefit Causeway's clients' accounts.

For purchases and sales of foreign currencies placed by Causeway, traders use FX Connect, an order routing system, and can review competing bids/offers from the approved foreign exchange banks. Traders can also use FX Connect to select a bank to execute a trade algorithmically over a period of time. Traders also review banks' foreign exchange bids/asks for reasonableness by comparing them with bid/ask information supplied by Bloomberg or another data vendor. The discussion above also generally applies to Causeway's selection of a bank for foreign currency transactions, except that research and client commission recapture programs are not considered in the selection. Causeway uses a third party service to assist the firm in assessing best execution of foreign exchange transactions. These assessments are distributed quarterly to relevant portfolio managers, traders, and Compliance staff and reviewed semi-annually at meetings of the firm's Best Execution Group.

For foreign exchange transactions related to securities trade settlements in South Korea and certain other emerging markets with restricted currencies, Causeway provides "standing instructions" to clients' custodians to automatically repatriate these payments from local currencies to the account's base currency. In addition, with some custodians and accounts, Causeway may also provide "standing instructions" for FX transactions related to dividends, income, interest, corporate actions, tax reclaims, and residual balances.

Causeway has a Best Execution Group which is comprised of relevant management, compliance, legal, trading, portfolio management, risk, operations, and systems personnel. The group meets semi-annually and reviews, among other items, the third party trade execution and foreign exchange execution assessment reports noted above, confirms Causeway's list of approved broker-dealers who execute portfolio transactions for clients and changes to the list, and reviews other materials relating to Causeway's fulfillment of its best execution obligations and use of soft dollars. The Compliance department maintains records of meetings of the Best Execution Group.

Trade Allocation. Causeway's policy is to allocate investment opportunities and trade executions – including IPO and new issues – among clients in a manner believed in good faith by Causeway to be fair and equitable over time. The overall goal is to achieve equivalent weightings in securities among all similarly managed accounts, subject to specific client restrictions or other limitations applicable to a particular client. Allocations of investment opportunities are based on an assessment of several factors including suitability, specific client investment guidelines, eligibility, and fair allocation among participating clients. Accounts in similar strategies will generally share pro rata in investment opportunities and IPOs and new issues, and Compliance department review is required for IPOs and new issues.

Non-execution clients. For certain clients, including certain model programs, Causeway may enter into agreements to supply model securities weightings and related information to other unaffiliated investment advisers or broker-dealers who (directly or through their delegates) execute and settle the trades and maintain the underlying customer accounts. These arrangements are sometimes referred to as wrap fee model programs because the customers of the program sponsor pay a specified fee or fees not based directly upon transactions in the customer's account, but for investment advisory services and the execution of the customer's transactions. (These types of clients are called "non-execution clients" because Causeway is not responsible for their trade execution, and Causeway's other clients are called "execution clients.") Non-execution clients and Causeway's trading desk will execute trades independently and Causeway has no control over the timing or manner of implementation of any investment information provided to non-execution clients. As a result, equity transactions for non-execution clients cannot be aggregated with orders for execution accounts, and non-execution accounts therefore may receive less favorable execution of some transactions. Non-execution clients implement investment decisions by purchasing or selling ADRs or shares of non-U.S. companies that trade in the U.S., while Causeway normally invests the non-U.S. portion of its execution clients' accounts in shares that trade on foreign exchanges that are open at different times than U.S. markets.

When portfolio managers make investment decisions for both execution clients and non-execution clients at the same time, Causeway's policy is to seek to provide investment decision information to non-execution clients contemporaneously with placing similar trades for execution clients. Causeway believes that this procedure is reasonably designed to give the non-execution clients' investment and trading personnel the equivalent opportunity to execute the trade at substantially the same time as Causeway's execution clients and that this procedure will result in fair and equitable allocation of investment opportunities and allocations for non-execution clients and execution clients over time. Causeway provides similar investment advisory services to multiple non-execution clients and this may result in model information for the same security being provided to multiple model program sponsors at a similar time. In such cases, Causeway, through a third-party vendor, rotates the order in which it places model information among the relevant sponsors or other trading entities. Causeway uses a rotation methodology designed to avoid systematically favoring one non-execution client over another and to treat similarly situated groups of nonexecution accounts equitably over time. Execution accounts are not rotated with nonexecution accounts. In addition, Causeway communicates model information to a thirdparty vendor which in turn processes the information, rotates the orders, and communicates the information to model program sponsors. As a result of factors not due to an intent to favor one set of clients over another, such as operational lags in communicating recommendations to sponsors for non-execution accounts, Causeway may execute a trade for one or more execution clients before a non-execution client's trade is executed. Conversely, depending on the timing of an investment decision relative to when relevant markets are open, a non-execution client may execute a trade before an execution client's trade is executed. As a result, depending on market, operational, or other factors, the execution of a prior trade may adversely affect the size of the position or the price obtainable for a client whose trade is executed later. Causeway's Compliance department reviews trading data including the timing of the communication of investment information to non-execution clients or to the third-party vendor in relation to the placement of orders for execution clients to monitor for compliance with this policy.

SMA programs and ADR strategies. Causeway may also purchase or sell ADRs or shares of companies that trade in the U.S. recommended for non-execution accounts for Causeway's ADR strategies, either directly by Causeway or by a third-party vendor for single-contract and dual-contract SMA programs. When Causeway executes trades for its ADR strategies, it seeks to provide investment decision information to the third-party vendor subject to a de minimus threshold as determined by Causeway in its sole discretion, which then communicates the information for single-contract and dual-contract SMA programs and non-execution accounts, contemporaneously with placing similar trades for its ADR strategies. Through the third-party vendor, Causeway uses a rotation methodology to alternate dissemination of trades or recommendations between non-execution accounts and single-contract and dual-contract SMA programs.

Causeway does not typically engage in step-out trading. In the event that Causeway elects to step-out trades, additional commissions and/or fees are typically charged by the institutional broker who executes the stepped-out trade and such costs will typically be embedded in the trade execution price in the nature of extra commission or cents per share mark-up or mark-down, which would not otherwise be incurred by single-contract and dual-contract SMA program accounts if traded with the model program sponsor. These commissions or mark-ups/mark-downs may be netted into the price received for a security and will not be reflected as individual items on the client trade confirmation.

Trade Aggregation. Causeway may (but is not obligated to) aggregate or "block" purchase and sale orders – including IPOs and new issues – to seek the efficiencies that may be available for larger transactions when it determines that investment decisions are appropriate for each participating account and it believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution for its clients. Prior to placing the order, Causeway computes the allocation it intends to make among participating client accounts. When aggregating orders, participating clients receive the average share price for all the transactions in that security for the aggregated order on a given business day, with transaction costs shared pro rata based on each client's participation. If the aggregated order is entirely filled, Causeway will allocate the securities among clients in accordance with its previous allocation computation. Securities purchased or sold in an aggregated order that is not completely filled on a trading day are allocated pro rata, when possible, to the participating client accounts in proportion to the size of the order placed for each account. Causeway may, however, increase or decrease the amount of securities allocated to each account if necessary due to cash constraints or to avoid holding odd-lot or small numbers of shares for particular clients. Additionally, if Causeway is unable to fully execute an aggregated order and Causeway determines that it would be impractical to allocate a small number of securities among the accounts participating in the transaction on a pro rata basis, Causeway may allocate such securities in a manner determined in good faith to be a fair allocation.

In the event an allocation would result in accounts receiving odd lots or small, de minimis, numbers of shares, Causeway's trading system (Charles River) automatically reallocates the shares to participating accounts using a random algorithm.

The Compliance department reviews IPOs and new issues, including any non-pro rata allocation. Model weight changes for non-execution clients cannot be blocked with purchase and sale orders for execution clients.

Trading Errors. Causeway has adopted policies and procedures for trading errors that may occur from time to time. Errors discovered prior to settlement may be canceled or corrected through reallocation if appropriate so that clients suffer no gain or loss and, for registered investment companies, if calculation prior to settlement would not require the recalculation of the net asset values calculated prior to the cancellation. Errors not discovered and corrected by such time are corrected in the affected client's account. The client keeps any resulting gain and Causeway reimburses the client for any loss that is material and is caused by Causeway's breach of its applicable standard of care or material breach of contract. Causeway's Compliance department, in consultation with management, is responsible for resolving, logging, and reporting trade errors.

Directed Brokerage. Certain clients direct Causeway to use specific broker-dealers that provide commission recapture benefits – including cash rebates, products, services, and expense payments or reimbursements – to the clients based on the trades that Causeway places for the client's account. Certain clients may also establish targets for the use of certain types of brokers (e.g., minority- or women-owned brokers). In addition, certain clients direct Causeway to use or target a specific dealer or other service provider for foreign exchange transactions. Clients directing Causeway to use specific broker-dealers or other service providers for transactions (i) may pay higher commissions on some transactions than might be attainable by Causeway, (ii) may receive less favorable execution of some transactions, (iii) may forego the possible benefit of volume discounts for aggregated transactions (see above), (iv) may not be able to participate in new issues sold by other broker-dealers, and (v) may restrict Causeway from receiving research-related products and services available from other broker-dealers.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Causeway's portfolio managers review client portfolios indirectly, normally each business day, by monitoring computerized investment strategy models, which include securities and weightings for securities held for strategy models. The firm's quantitative portfolio managers are responsible for reviewing accounts in the quantitatively-managed strategies. The firm's fundamental portfolio managers are responsible for reviewing accounts in the fundamentally-managed strategies. No specific number of accounts is assigned to each portfolio manager. The reviews evaluate factors including performance, risk, and strategic positioning of portfolios.

In addition, Causeway uses an automated compliance system that reviews accounts for compliance with certain coded investment guidelines on a daily basis.

Causeway provides written reports to clients on a monthly or quarterly basis depending on the agreement with the client. Reports may contain portfolio holdings and values, purchases and sales, market commentary, total assets, performance and attribution information, country weightings, industry weightings, and other portfolio characteristics. Reports are generated from Causeway's accounting system, which may differ from a client's official books and records maintained by its custodian or administrator. Representatives of Causeway also meet virtually, in person or by conference telephone with clients periodically depending on arrangements with the client.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Causeway does not receive economic benefits from anyone who is not a client for providing investment advisory services to clients although, arguably, the use of soft dollars confers an economic benefit to Causeway. As discussed in Item 12 above, conflicts of interest may arise from Causeway's use of soft dollars.

From time to time, Causeway may compensate unaffiliated parties for client referrals, subject to the requirements of Rule 206(4)-1 under the Advisers Act. Thus, these entities have a financial incentive to recommend Causeway's services. Currently, Causeway has no such arrangements. Compensation arrangements will be disclosed to clients at the time of the solicitation or referral as required by the Advisers Act.

Item 15 Custody

Causeway does not hold client funds or securities. Client funds and securities are held by banks, broker-dealers, or other qualified custodians who send monthly or quarterly account statements directly to clients. Other than certain SMA program clients, Causeway also provides reports to clients on a monthly or quarterly basis, depending on the agreement with the client. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their qualified custodians with those they receive from Causeway.

Under the Advisers Act, Causeway may be deemed to have custody over some client accounts because the client authorizes Causeway to deduct its fees directly from its accounts otherwise held at a qualified custodian. Causeway manages the investment portfolios of the Group Trust, the assets of which are held by a trustee which is a custodian bank that is not affiliated with Causeway. Causeway manages the investment portfolios of the Causeway Multi-Funds, the assets of which are held by a custodian bank that is not affiliated with Causeway. Causeway may sponsor and manage other private funds from time to time, the assets of which are held by custodian banks that are not affiliated with Causeway. The Group Trust, Causeway Multi-Funds, and any such private funds are subject to audits at least annually by an independent public accountant. Their audited financial statements are prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and distributed to all investors within 120 days of the end of their fiscal years, or as otherwise required.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Causeway accepts discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients, except for non-discretionary accounts including certain of the "non-execution" accounts described in Item 12 above. Causeway enters into written investment management agreements with clients which set forth Causeway's discretionary authority to manage assets and contain investment guidelines and restrictions. Where Causeway has discretionary authority, it may agree with clients to limit its discretion. Customary restrictions on Causeway's authority may include limits on the amount of total account assets invested in a single company, industry, or country, or in cash, emerging markets, or derivative instruments.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Causeway votes the proxies of companies owned by clients who have granted Causeway voting authority. Clients may decide not to delegate proxy voting authority to Causeway. When Causeway has proxy voting authority, it votes proxies solely in what Causeway believes is the best interests of clients in accordance with its Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures.

Causeway's policies and procedures are designed to cast votes consistent with certain basic principles:

- increasing shareholder value
- maintaining or increasing shareholder influence over the board of directors and management
- establishing and enhancing strong and independent boards of directors
- maintaining or increasing the rights of shareholders
- aligning the interests of management and employees with those of shareholders with a view toward the reasonableness of executive compensation and shareholder dilution.

Causeway's guidelines also recognize that a company's management is charged with day-to-day operations and, therefore, Causeway generally votes on routine business matters in favor of management's proposals or positions. Under its guidelines, Causeway generally votes for distributions of income, appointment of auditors, director compensation (unless deemed excessive), management's slate of director nominees (except nominees with poor attendance or who have not acted in the best interests of shareholders), financial results/director and auditor reports, share repurchase plans, and changing corporate names and other similar matters.

Causeway generally votes against anti-takeover mechanisms. Causeway votes other matters – including equity-based compensation plans and social and environmental issues – on a case-by-case basis.

Causeway's interests may conflict with clients on certain proxy votes where Causeway might have a significant business or personal relationship with the company or its officers. Causeway's chief operating officer in consultation with the general counsel/ chief compliance officer decides if a vote involves a material conflict of interest. If so, Causeway may obtain instructions or consent from the client on voting or will vote in accordance with a "for" or "against" or "with management" guideline if one applies. If no such guideline applies, Causeway will follow the recommendation of an independent third party such as Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS).

Non-U.S. proxies (and particularly those in emerging markets) may involve a number of problems that restrict or prevent Causeway's ability to vote, or otherwise make voting impractical. For example, Causeway might refrain from voting if it or its agents are required to appear in person at a shareholder meeting or if the exercise of voting rights would result in the imposition of trading or other ownership restrictions. As a result, Causeway will only use its best efforts to vote clients' non-U.S. proxies and may decide not to vote a non-U.S. proxy if it determines that it would be impractical or disadvantageous to do so. In addition, Causeway will not vote proxies (U.S. or non-U.S.) if it does not receive adequate information from the client's custodian in sufficient time to cast the vote. To assist in voting proxies, Causeway may use independent research and recordkeeping software provided by third parties.

This is only a summary of Causeway's Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures. To obtain a full copy or information on how portfolio securities held in your account have been voted, please contact Causeway by phone at 310-231-6100 or by email at compliance@causewaycap.com.

Certain clients choose to vote their own securities and communicate this in the investment management agreement or by other written notice to Causeway. These clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodians, and may contact Causeway at the above telephone number or email with questions about a particular proxy solicitation.

For clients with securities lending programs, Causeway may not be able to vote proxies for securities that a client has loaned to a third party. Causeway recognizes that clients manage their own securities lending programs. Causeway may, but is not obligated to, notify a client that Causeway is being prevented from voting a proxy due to the securities being on loan. There can be no assurance that such notice will be received in time for the client, if it so chooses, to recall the security.

Causeway is not responsible for taking action on bankruptcy, class action or other securities litigation claims affecting client account assets or for monitoring these proceedings. Clients interested in participating in these matters should contact their own legal and other advisers.

Item 18 Financial Information

Causeway does not require clients to prepay fees six months or more in advance.
Causeway knows of no present financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair Causeway's ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. Causeway has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.

Services to Fund Plans

Causeway is the Manager of Causeway Multi-Fund LLC ("Fund") and each of its Series. The services that Causeway provides to the Fund and its Series are described in the following documents:

- Limited Liability Company Agreement of the Fund. Causeway's services as Manager of the Fund and each Series are described in Article IV.

 Company Agreement of the Fund ("Series Schedule"). Causeway's services as Manager of each Series are described generally in the applicable Series Schedule of the Series.
- Memorandum and Supplement. Causeway's services as Manager of the Fund and each Series are described generally in the Confidential Private Placement Memorandum of the Fund ("Memorandum") and the applicable Supplements for each Series.
- Causeway's disclosure "brochure" pursuant to Form ADV Part 2. Causeway's services are described in Item 8 [Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss], Item 12 [Brokerage Practices], Item 13 [Review of Accounts], Item 16 [Investment Discretion], and Item 17 [Voting Client Securities].

Status with respect to Separate Account Plans	Status with respect to Fund Plans
Causeway provides its services to Separate Account Plans as a fiduciary (as defined by ERISA) and as an investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended.	For Fund Plans investing in Series of the Fund, Causeway acts as a fiduciary (as defined by ERISA) with respect to any plan assets of Fund Plans investing in a Series to the extent the Series is deemed to hold plan assets of such Fund Plan investors. Causeway is an investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended.

Direct Compensation for Separate Account Plans	Direct Compensation for Fund Plans
Separate Account Plans pay Causeway the investment management fees set forth in the fee schedule of the IMA.	Causeway does not receive direct compensation from Fund Plans investing in Series of the Fund. Each Series pays Causeway a management fee as described under "Indirect Compensation" below.

Indirect Compensation

For Separate Account Plans: For certain Separate Account Plans that invest in Causeway Emerging Markets Fund (the "EM Fund") and/or Causeway International Small Cap Fund (the "Small Cap Fund"), Causeway receives indirect compensation with respect to its services to the Separate Account Plans in the form of management fees paid by the EM Fund and Small Cap Fund to Causeway attributable to investments by the Separate Account Plans in such funds. Each of the EM Fund and the Small Cap Fund pays Causeway an annual management fee of 1.00% of the fund's average daily net assets. Such fees are set forth in each fund's summary prospectus under "Annual Fund Operating Expenses – Management Fees." As discussed in the IMA fee schedule, Causeway credits the management fees attributable to Separate Account Plans that are paid by the EM Fund or the Small Cap Fund against the separate account management fees paid by the Separate Account Plans, but not below $0.

For Fund Plans: Each Series pays Causeway a management fee for managing the investment and reinvestment of the Series' assets, the terms and amount of which are set forth in the applicable Series Schedule, Supplement for the Series, and any side letter agreement with an investor, if applicable.

For Both Separate Account Plans and Fund Plans: Causeway may receive indirect compensation with respect to its services to a Separate Account Plan or a Fund Plan in the form of "soft dollar" brokerage and research services provided by broker-dealers identified on Schedule A who execute securities transactions for the Separate Account Plan (or for the EM Fund or Small Cap Fund in which a Separate Account Plan may invest) or for a series of the Fund. Such indirect compensation is estimated to be approximately 65% of full service brokerage commissions.

On occasion, Causeway also may be offered, or may receive without notice, indirect compensation from clients, brokers, vendors, or other persons in the form of non-cash gifts, customary business meals, entertainment (e.g., sporting events), promotional items (e.g., pens, mugs, T-shirts), or reimbursement or subsidies in connection with attendance at educational conferences and other events, that may be also attended by plan sponsors or representatives. Causeway has adopted gift policies that are intended to manage potential conflicts of interest associated with such items. Causeway's employees are not permitted to accept extraordinary or extravagant gifts, or to solicit gifts or gratuities. Gifts of a nominal value (i.e., gifts to an individual Causeway employee whose reasonable value is no more than $100 a year), and customary business meals and entertainment (e.g., sporting events), and promotional items (e.g., pens, mugs, T-shirts) may be accepted. There is no specific arrangement between Causeway and third parties regarding the provision of gifts, business meals and entertainment, promotional items, conferences or events to Causeway's employees that is based on Causeway's service agreement with any particular client, and any such gifts, business meals and entertainment, promotional items, conferences or events are not received by Causeway employees by reason of their services to any particular client. Even if, under a reasonable method of allocation, the value of gifts and entertainment received by Causeway employees were attributable to the plan, such gifts or entertainment would likely be of insubstantial value and, therefore, not reportable non-monetary compensation for purposes of ERISA Section 408(b)(2).

Compensation paid among related parties

No transactional compensation is paid among Causeway and any affiliate or subcontractor of Causeway in connection with the services provided by Causeway to a Separate Account Plan or to a Series of the Fund.

Compensation for termination of contract or arrangement

Causeway will not receive any compensation in connection with the termination of a Separate Account Plan's IMA. Causeway will not receive compensation in connection with the termination of a Fund Plan's investment in a Series of the Fund.

Manner of receipt

For Separate Account Plans: Causeway receives its direct compensation in the manner described in the fee schedule of the Separate Account Plan's IMA, and receives indirect compensation in the form of soft dollar brokerage and research services in the manner described in Item 12 of Causeway's disclosure brochure.

For Fund Plans: Causeway receives management fees in the manner described in the applicable Supplement and Series Schedule, and receives indirect compensation in the form of soft dollar brokerage and research services in the manner described in Item 12 of Causeway's disclosure brochure.

Investment Disclosure – Fiduciary Services

For Fund Plans: See the sections of the Memorandum and the applicable Supplement entitled "Expenses" for information regarding expenses borne by each Series. The aggregate amount of such expenses will be disclosed in the annual financial statements for each Series.
